MASONS MARCH ON DOME

GEORGE R. BORDEWICK Grand Master Of Washington led the Masonic March.

The Grand Lodge, free and accepted mason of Washington uniting both whites and blacks laid the corner stone of the Tacoma Dome in a public ceremony on Saturday, October 2, 1982, Mayor Doug Sutherland was master of ceremonies. A beautiful procession of fraternal, veteran and service organization formed in the parking lot and moved off at approximately 1:45 p.m.

The ceremony of laying of the corner stones goes back in history to the rites practiced by the architects and builders of the ancient world. A "time capsule" containing various memorials of our time, current newspapers, names of the city council and civic bodies, coins photographs and other items were deposited in a cavity in the corner stone. This was done to form a record for future generations testifying to the energy. Industry and culture of our time.

The Masonic ceremony compares the techniques of building with that of the formation of human character, employing the proven rules of simple morality. October 2, 1982, will be remembered as a great day in history, because it created a sense of participation and accomplishment. Also celebrating the anticipated completion next spring of this monument to the spirit and enterprise of the citizens of Tacoma, The City Of Destiny.

Mr. Russel Gideon, past Grand Master Of the Prince Hall Grand Lodge, WA. State Jurisdiction is now the Grand Soverign Commandor of the Northern judisdiction Scottish Rights Prince Hall F&A.M.

Mr. Gideon has been listed as one of the one-hundred most influential Black Leaders in America to the Black Masons of the State of Washington. He is known as the Pass Master of Pass Masters of everything in Masonery.

HALEY CRITIZES DICK'S "MAKE WORK", PROPOSAL.

Tacoma, WA ----"Norm Dicks has once again proposed federal programs, federal spending, federal assistance to solve the unemployment problem," Ted Haley today told a meeting of the 26th and 27th District Republican Club.

"Just last week he voted for the short-term 'make-work' jobs program which will further burden the federal budget by $1 billion. The bill will creat 200,000 temporary public service jobs - jobs that would provide no valuable skills training. The republicans just reduced federal employees by 200,000. Now they want to make our federal government the major employer again, with your taxes and mine," he said.

The sixth district Congressional candidate called the plan "another welfare program" and critized the bill's neglect of the unemployed already on federal assistance as candidates for jobs.

"This proposal doesn't even touch the non-working people already on federal assistance. They're not the ones that would be working at specially created 'make-work' jobs, and this further burdens our tax system.

We don't need the federal government creating a whole program making more people dependent on jobs that offer them nothing," he said.

Haley again spoke of a balanced federal budget as the real solution to the unemployment problem. "We need an economy that creates jobs through its own strength - jobs with a future."

He also endorsed, as a temporary relief measure, the House republican proposal to create jobs. "The republican plan would provide more jobs, 300-400,000 for the money expended and would not further burden the federal budget or our tax dollars. 75% of the jobs provided would go to the people already on federal assistance.

"Also, the $1.5 billion would come from an already allocated, yet unused source: the synthetic fuels fund," Haley explained.

"This is not the only solution to our economic crisis. but it is a positive step, a real help to people devastated by today's economy. And it won't further tax budget, which is how we got into this economic mess to begin with"," he said.

A MILLION DOLLAR PLEDGE.

A $1 million pledge to build the "Kids Bowling For Kids Village" was presented by the Variety Club of the Pacific Northwest and the Washington State Bowling Proprietors Association (WSBPA) to Children's Orthopedic Hospital (COH) at their convention Wednesday, September 29 at the Westin Hotel in Seattle.

The "Kids Bowling For Kids Village" will serve the needs of the community by providing two - eight unit structures which will house the parents of patients being treated at COH.

Civil rights: Fighting for the high ground

If there is anything that makes President Regan mad, it is the charge that he doesn't care about racial discrimination. That is the reason civil rights has been in the news recently.

Because the Democratic dominated Congressional Black Caucus scheduled its 12th annual Washington Legislative conference and awards dinner last weekend, the President had every reason to believe he would be hearing that kind of charge made loud and clear.

The Caucus event brings about 5,000 Black leaders and activists to the capital each year and in both Republic and Democratic administration, the federal commitment to civil rights and miniority economic assistance has come under heavy bombardment. So starting early in the week, the Republican and a cooperating conservative group held a series of public events all aimed at stating the case that the Gop and the political right are sensitive to and trying to help American Blacks and other minorities.

The thrust of Regan speech and those of his associates wae that the Administration has been vigorous in enforcement of civil rights.

Blacks resist school busing, Reagan says

President Reagan, insisting that blacks are among the most vocal critics of busing, said Tuesday night that his administration may ask the courts to strike down busing plans in some cities.

"The black community is the one that is protesting," Reagan said in his televised press conference.

He said the Justice Department will go to court "on a case-by-case basis" to help communities overturn unpopular busing plans ordered by the courts to integrate public schools.

But the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights said earlier Tuesday the anti-busing policy "gives the lie to President Reagan's claim that his administration respects the rights of minorities" and "is openly inviting racial conflict."

The statement was signed by veteran civil rights activists Benjamin Hooks, Bayard Rustin and Ralph Neas.

EDUCATION

Study says blacks and whites both do better in a desegregated school

School desegregation boosts student achievement for both black and white students, but does little to improve racial attitudes of parents, students or teachers, says a three-year study released Wednesday by Michigan State University.

Using data from the New Castle, Del., school system — which by court order merged its 11 districts for racial balance — researchers of the Urban Affairs Program found that desegregation there broke the pattern of white students always showing the highest achievement levels.

National education experts are terming the study "a significant piece of the desegregation puzzle."

"The achievement gains reported for both black and white students in New Castle are quite large, almost too good to be true," said Robert Crain of John Hopkins University's Center for the Social Organization of Schools.

"But bear in mind that in a number of cities where studies have been done after desegregation, black achievement scores have gone up."

On the study's race relations findings, Vanderbilt University education expert Bill Hawley said the results are not surprising.

"Just mixing kids up in school may satisfy a court order, but it doesn't really change their ideas," Hawley said.

Both experts warn that the study should be viewed as a valuable learning tool but not a "grand statement" or " scorecard" on the status of the effects of desegregation.

Funded by the Rockefeller Foundation, the study shows that the greatest gains in achievement were registered by students from half-black, half-white neighborhoods, and mostly black neighborhoods.

Project co-director Joe Darden said that attitudes of both parents and students became slightly less positive just after desegregation, and remained unchanged for two years. People in mostly black neighborhoods showed the most positive racial attitudes; those in all-white neighborhoods had the least positive attitudes.

"As long as neighborhoods remain racially segregated, school desegregation will do little to change racial attitudes," Darden said.

Among teachers, black instructors showed the most positive attitude. Teachers from 30 to 39 years old had the most positive racial attitudes, while teachers younger than 30 had the least positive attitudes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Too rarely, those that perform a public service are given too little recognition for their good works. Newspaper editors and writers are surely among those whom we take for granted.
During this National Newspaper Week (October 10-16), we want to express our appreciation for your work in providing a forum for discussion of issues and events and trends that shape our future. Your services bring light and order to an often dark and chaotic world.
We are especially grateful to The Tacoma Facts for publicizing the perilous situation of the Baha'is in Iran who are the victims of brutal and fanatical persecution. Such publicity has surely been instrumental in allaying what would otherwise be an even more hideous persecution.
The Tacoma Facts performs a great role in Tacoma. Thank you for providing this invaluable service to our community.

Sincerely,
Joe Bushnell, Public Affairs Committee of Tacoma

STORE PROJECT CATERS TO STUDENTS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS.

Twenty high school students got the benefit of being the first students in Tacoma to participate in the Store Project last year, and 18 of them are either working or have gone on to further their education.
The Store is housed above the Tacoma-Pierce County Chamber of Commerce offices at 738 Broadway, and caters to students with special needs, 16 to 21 years of age, who are looking toward employment in the retail grocery business. There are 26 students currently enrolled. The program is funded by federal and state monies from the Department of Labor and the state office of public instruction.

"Students are taught basic skills necessary for grocery store employment such as grooming, customer relations, and good work habits," Golliher points out, adding that the students also learn a wide variety of retail grocery skills and get to practice their new skills in a private industry setting.
"The training usually takes three to four months or as long as necessary," she continues. "They don't go to in-store training until they're ready."
Golliher says that local labor leaders and retail store managers have assisted in making the program a success, and stresses there is a need for more persons from the community to get involved. She is available to explain the program to businesses upon request and can be contacted at The Store by dialing 572-5985.

SURVIVAL V.S. SURVIVAL:

The Black Community in America today is facing a crisis situation and a struggle to survive the wasteland of budget cuts and increased military spending. The Reagan Administration, while increasing the military budget, has made drastic cuts in social welfare programs, revenue for housing, education, health care, etc. All of these cuts directly effect the Black Community and the poor of this country. The number one issue facing the Black Community, however, is unemployment. Dr. Lawrence E. Gary, director of Howard University's Institute for Urban Affairs and Research, recently released a study of Black males in Washington D.C. The study concluded that economic or employment problems were viewed as the most serious difficulties confronting Black men. What's significant is that the study reveals that economic and employment related difficulties are a problem among both employed as well as unemployed Black men--regardless of age and education

We, in America, must recognize that these are life and death survival issues that are faced daily by the poor, the Black and minorities of this country.

If we assume that life is worth living and that man has a right to survival, then we must find an alternative to war. In a day when vehicles hurtle through outer space and guided ballistic missiles carve highways of death through the stratosphere, no nation can claim victory in war.

JEREMY

With Petition in hand we stand and wait
And a little boy comes to the door.
We talk to his mother about the "Freeze"
To end the threat of nuclear war.

The little boy listens, he looks at his Mom,
"I'll sign that!" says he.
He is only six, or maybe seven,
And his name is Jeremy.

He runs for his pencil and hurries back,
So determined and eager is he—
And there, in large bold letters we see
The name of Jeremy.

While Mom is signing, she softly explains:
In her mind there is no doubt
That Jeremy understands and knows
What this is all about.

The mood of the people is plain to see
They are worried and burdened with fear.
"Peace, not War!
Life, not Death!"
The message is loud and clear.

But our leaders can't find the road to peace,
They argue and disagree;
While a little boy knows what it's all about,
And his name is Jeremy.

COMMUNITY BUILDING BLOCKS

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT 1983-84

Houses. Streets. Businesses. Putting together Community Building Blocks requires a partnership of government, neighborhoods, community groups and businesses. Community development means working together to build sound housing, livable neighborhoods and a strong economy.

Since 1975, the City of Tacoma has been asking its citizens and community groups to help improve our city by proposing ideas for Community Development projects. Beginning October 4, 1982, the Community Development Department will again accept proposals from citizens, community groups, governmental agencies and City departments for the July, 1983 to June, 1984 program year. To be considered proposals must be submitted by November 8, 1982, before 5:00 p.m. to the:

Community Development Department
Tacoma Municipal Building
740 St. Helens Avenue, Suite 1036
Tacoma, WA 98402

Tacoma expects to receive up to $2.8 million in Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds from the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for the 1983-84 program year.

Approximately $500,000 of these funds will be available for miscellaneous neighborhood projects submitted from the community. The City Council has adopted policies setting aside $200,000 for street improvements, approximately $140,000 for acquisition of land for open space, $560,000 for housing rehabilitation and about $400,000 for repayment of loans for the University of Puget Sound Law Center project.

The primary objective of the CDBG program is to "provide decent housing and a suitable living environment and expand economic opportunities, principally for low- and moderate-income persons." (Housing and Community Development Act of 1974).

The Community Development Department administers the City's program using various federal and state funding sources in partnership with City and private resources to implement housing, economic development, neighborhood improvement and historic preservation programs.

PAST ACTIVITIES

Since 1975, Community Development Block Grant funds have contributed significantly to building our community.

More than 375 homes have been rehabilitated. Locks and smoke detectors have been installed in 855 public housing units. Thousands of elderly and handicapped citizens have received home repairs.

Community Development uses a variety of programs to stimulate economic growth, particularly in downtown Tacoma. The Community Development Program has stimulated development and job creation with projects such as The Pantages Center for the Performing Arts, University of Puget Sound Law Center and City Waterway street improvements. Revolving loan funds are helping businesses improve buildings needed for their expanding operations. Several neighborhood commercial districts such as South Tacoma Way are being redeveloped.

Historic landmarks such as the Spanish Staircase and Seymour Botanical Conservatory have been rehabilitated. Property owners are being assisted with restoration of historic buildings so they can qualify for investment tax credits.

Numerous public facilities have been built. Twenty-nine parks have been improved or developed. Sixteen community facilities — including five recreation centers, three branch libraries, three senior centers, and three service centers — have been built or improved. All library buildings and thirteen parks have been modified to make access easier for handicapped persons. Seventy-one acres of open space property have been purchased and will be preserved or developed for recreation.

Thirty miles of residential streets have been improved, and three neighborhoods have installed street lighting. Almost 300 curb ramps have been built to make streets more accessible for handicapped person:

Al Green finds a pulpit on Broadway

Al Green, songwriter, entertainer. and minister has managed to add "Broadway Story" to his long list of credits.

Green, 36 is currently appearing on Broadway in Vinnette Carroll's (gospel revue) "Your Arms Too Short To Box With God," along with Patti-Labelle and host of superb singers and dancers.

Carroll who directed "Arms Too Short" through three Broadway appearances and extensive across-country tours, got the idea for the revue from the Book of St. Matthew and added Green to the Cast of young stars for the present five-week run.

When asked how he landed the starring role, Green said, "It was a surprise to me. I don't know how I got it. I really don't know.

"In 1976, Louise Williams (a friend) said to me, "there's a play, a fantastic play for you. You've got to be in it." I said, 'you're crazy!' The play came to Memphis and somehow I got swindled into seeing it, he continued.

I was being taken somewhere else that night and wound up at the theatre. I was asked if I wanted to be a part of it. I thought about it, prayed about it and decided it would be a wonderful vehicle for spreading the gospel and a good show...expounding that type of ideal for young people, I think is very good," he said.

"I don't play anything," he said "even in the musical, I'm serious about it all. If it's a play to some people it may be a play to them," he said.

ECCLESIASTES 11

CAST thy bread upon the waters: for thou shalt find it after many days.

Give a portion to seven, and also to eight; for thou knowest not what evil shall be upon the earth.

If the clouds be full of rain, they empty themselves upon the earth: and if the tree fall toward the south, or toward the north, in the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be.

He that observeth the wind shall not sow; and he that regardeth the clouds shall reap.

As thou knowest not what is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do grow in the womb of her that is with child: even so thou knowest not the works of God who maketh all.

In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withhold not thine hand: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, either this or that, or whether they both shall be alike good.

Truly the light is sweet, and a pleasant thing it is for the eyes to behold the sun:

But if a man live many years, and rejoice in them all; yet let him remember the days of darkness; for they shall be many. All that cometh is vanity.

UNTITLED

I Have this odd desire to cut through Bureaucratic Red Tape. But I just struggle and struggle and sink deeper and deeper into the quakmire.

I try and try to find a simpler way to do things. But the problems I encounter make me want to pull my hair out and cry.

I am ordered to fill out this form and that one. Form F22 is for rights to eat, Form A808 enables me to breathe. I greatly wish that the forms I had to fill out were none.

I try to take short cuts, But this I am told is not allowed. It would make things too easy, they say. At last I understand. I'm not at fault; It's just that government officials are buts!!
